

Audrey Russo
President & CEO
Pittsburgh Technology Council

Ms. Audrey Russo has served the technology business sector for southwestern PA as President and CEO of the Pittsburgh Tech Council since 2007. Pittsburgh Tech Council is the oldest and largest technology trade association in North America.

Ms. Russo has facilitated strong interaction across all business sectors of the regional economy, which she believes will only succeed and grow through technology innovation and commercialization. With a background in information technology, operations and finance, Audrey previously worked for large multi-national Fortune 500 companies (Alcoa, Reynolds Metals), as well as at MAYA Design, and in an adjunct faculty and project role at Virginia Commonwealth University. Audrey Chairs the World Affairs Council and serves on numerous community boards including: Jewish Community Center of Greater Pittsburgh; RIDC; CityLab; Power of 32; Highmark Business Advisory Board, and has been a member of the Early Learning Investment Commission since 2011.

Ms. Russo earned her Bachelor of Science degree in social work from Ohio State University and she earned her Master's Degree in Public Administration from Syracuse University.